Radio Netherlands Worldwide is the Dutch international public service broadcaster. RNW produces programmes and internet sites in ten languages, runs training courses, supports local media and supervises countless other projects aimed at bringing people together. With these activities RNW reaches tens of millions of people across the globe.

Summer Season 2010

Radio Netherlands Worldwide is popping up in lots of new places at the start of 2010. Of course, we will still be working hard to improve our own broadcasts and website.

Our expanded hour-long Earth Beat – our sustainable development show – is being made for our own broadcasts and our radio partners in US and now in India as well. The State We're In is expanding its partnership network too and is looking for more contributions from you. Visit the site and find out how your story can be featured in the show and don't forget the Facebook page.

Our Classic Dox series is continuing and there'll be more video content on offer online.

RNW's music productions, showcasing the best in classical, jazz, world music and European pop will also feature prominently in the summer season – both online and on air. In April we will start with our new series of world music Hear the World.

We have news and current affairs with Newsline and Network Europe and our video review of the week's Dutch news, This Week in the Netherlands, can be found online every Friday. African coverage has also been strengthened with more online and more on air from the Bridges with Africa team.

Our website, www.rnw.nl, has been revamped and we continue looking for ways to make it even better – to showcase our material and let you have your say. You'll also see RNW stories popping up on other websites around the world as we expand our web partner network.

Bridges with Africa

Bridges with Africa is your link with Africans in Europe and Africans in Africa. This lively weekly radio programme in English brings you interviews, feature stories, African music and thought-provoking reports.

We discuss the issues that affect your life. From culture and business to scandals and sports. You'll hear what makes Africans tick.

Join us every Friday on Bridges with Africa on short wave radio or on our website www.radionetherlands.nl/africa.

Earth Beat

Sustainable development is one of the hottest topics in our warming world and each week Earth Beat looks at the latest trends. Host Marnie Chesterton backed by an expanded team will be keeping you up-to-date with the latest environmental and development stories. But don't worry, we'll still be doing it all with a smile on our faces and will try to avoid giving listeners the guilt trips on offer from other sustainable development shows.

The State We're In

The State We're In is the programme about how we treat each other around the globe – “human rights, wrongs and everything in-between” is the show's motto. People come first in this hour-long programme made each week in partnership with WAMU 88.5 FM, the leading public radio station in Washington DC. Hosted by Jonathan Groubert, the show takes a global look at the is-ssues facing us all in an increasingly interwoven world. The show is always on the lookout for your stories – visit the website and see how you can take part: www.tswi.org.

Classic Dox

Classic Dox presents the best of Radio Netherlands Worldwide documentaries from our archives on subjects ranging from human rights and development to arts, culture and history – as well as insightful or moving personal stories – many of which have won awards at international festivals.

Network Europe

Monday to Friday we bring you this lively mix of the latest European news, current affairs and culture. Finding out what's creating a buzz on the continent, who's making the headlines and which issues are keeping Europeans most animated. With a daily dose of the latest trend-setting music Network Europe gives a snapshot of life in the EU.

Weekends see Network Europe Week, a round up of the best bits of the daily show, on a Saturday. Network Europe Extra on Sunday features art, music, cinema, food and lifestyle trends. The programmes are made in partnership with the continent's leading international broadcasters under the Euranet consortium.
